When the first verse was played as the German national anthem at the canoe sprint world championships in Hungary in August German athletes were reportedly "appalled". In lieu of an official national anthem, popular German songs such as the Trizonesien-Songa carnival song mocking the occupying Allied powers, were used at some sporting events.

No obvious damage to the book cover, with the dust jacket if applicable included.

Though the black, red and gold colours of the national flag had been incorporated into Article 22 of the West German constitution a national anthem was not specified. Unity and justice and freedom For the German fatherland; This let us all pursue, Brotherly with heart and hand.

An alternative version called "Kinderhymne" Children's Hymn was written by Slovenian "industrial" band Laibach incorporated Hoffmann's lyrics in a song titled "Germania", on the album Volk which contains fourteen songs with adaptations of national anthems.
